As a bedroom community only 15 minutes south of Indianapolis, Greenwood, Indiana is a popular destination for families. The mayor notes that Greenwood is the “City of Pride and Progress” and shares that they “focus on schools, family and fun.”

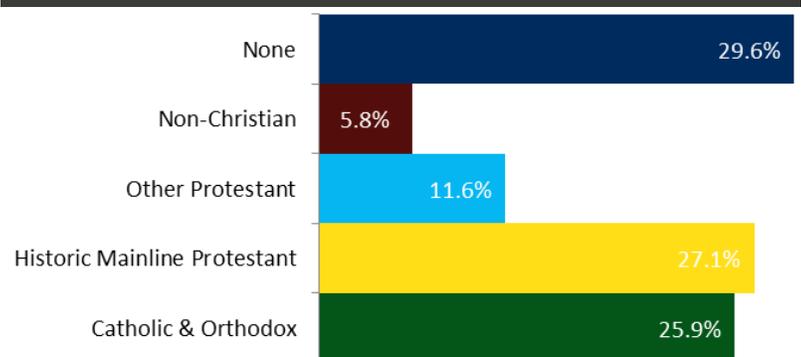

The hope of the Central Indiana Presbytery is to help these families center their lives on something more substantial than “schools and fun.”

With most people listing Roman Catholic as their church affiliation or identifying as “nones” the need for a reformed church is great. The Central Indiana Presbytery is partnering with the Midwest Alliance to plant a PCA church in Greenwood.

The mission of the Midwest Alliance is to see PCA churches and presbyteries in the Midwest working together to plant and grow healthy and reproducing churches while the Central Indiana Presbytery exists as a regional church to extend God’s kingdom by strengthening existing churches, planting new churches, developing leaders, and caring for pastors. With God’s help, the hope is to see kingdom advancement through a church plant in Greenwood.
