Racial Demographics

Marietta is the county seat of Cobb County, Georgia. As ExploreGeorgia.org points out, "Marietta is graced with a historic, town square, five National Register Historic Districts, a dramatic mountain backdrop, and just enough mileage between it and Atlanta to give it the élan of a cosseted and well-heeled small town with the vibrancy of an urban environment."

Christ Community Church (PCA) in Kennesaw, along with an emergent church planting residency program in the NW Georgia Presbytery, has a vision to see disciples multiplied in the Northwest Suburbs of Atlanta and wants to see a disciple making church planted in the East Marietta area. East Marietta is on the commercial spine of Cobb County. This spine is home to a socio-economically diverse population and has a minority majority culture.

We seek a culturally adept pastor who bridges the gaps to his neighbors to see them become part of God's family, and will equip others to do likewise. We seek a pastor who humbly labors and rests in the power of God through the means of grace to create disciples and to mature them in Christ-likeness.

Marietta Highlights

About 20 miles northwest of Atlanta.

Marietta City School District received an "B" rating for 2019.

The city's parks include amenities such as playgrounds, a sprayground, athletic complex, picnic areas, off-leash areas, and a community center.

The population of Metro Marietta (outside city limits but with a Marietta address) includes over 300,000 residents.

Dobbins Air Reserve Base on the south side of town and a Lockheed Martin manufacturing plant are among the major industries in the city.

The Marietta Museum of History is located in the historic Kennesaw House building which served as a makeshift hospital and morgue during the Civil War.

The city includes the Kennesaw House, one of only four buildings in Marietta not burned to the ground in Sherman's March to the Sea.
